

EYE BRITAIN FOR ANSWER TO KELLOGG

Four Nations Have Agreed to Plan to Outlaw War

Washington, July 17-(AP)—With Secretary Kellogg's proposed treaty for the renunciation of war approved by four of the fourteen nations which were invited to become original signatories, state department officials today looked to Great Britain for the next important development.

Dispatches from London said that a note in reply to Mr. Kellogg's communication of June 23 which was submitted with the draft treaty probably would be given to the American charge d'affaires there tomorrow and quoted Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary as asserting in the House of Commons that the London government had reached a definite stand on the subject.

Previously unofficial information had been received here to the effect that Great Britain stood ready to endorse the American proposal.

Irish Free State Agrees
Secretary Kellogg was highly gratified at the replies of France and Italy termed their acceptance very satisfactory. He was pleased, as well, with the approval of the Irish Free State, the latest to be announced. Germany's endorsement was made known last week.

A note from the Irish Free State, signed by its minister for external affairs, Patrick McGilgan, was made public last night. To sign the compact "in conjunction with such other governments as may be so disposed."

Stringing Wire On the Dixon Belvidere High Tension Line

Linemen of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company are now stringing the three-way high tension line from Dixon to Leaf River, which is as far as the special pole line has been constructed toward Belvidere, in which city it will eventually terminate.

The big wires, which will carry 133,000 volts of electricity from the Dixon hydro and steam stations, are about one inch in diameter, being constructed of aluminum with steel cores—the latter to provide the necessary strength, while the aluminum provides the conductor of little resistance.

The lines are suspended from the cross arms of the double poles with enormous insulators, ten in a string to each wire, and at points where the lines cross highways there are twenty of these insulators to a wire, a total of sixty on each pole.

Young Lad Confessed Raiding Cash Drawer

The first step of an eleven-year-old Dixon boy in a career of crime Monday noon, took him right into the hands of the police, and it is hoped by the officers that the fright which he was given will cause him to decide to abandon the life on which he made a start yesterday when he took $61 in currency from the till at the office of the Dixon Implement Co., 119 Hennepin avenue. The child, whose name is withheld in the expectation that he will not attempt a second such felony, was allowed his liberty with the threat that if he is again apprehended in any such escapade he will be sent to the state school for boys at St. Charles.

Shortly after noon Monday Officer John Bohnstel, on duty at the station, was called to the implement company's office, where he was informed that the till had been robbed while the attendant in charge was on the sidewalk in front of the store. Two boys had been seen about the place, one of whom had gone inside, apparently playing, while the other stayed outside with the clerk.

The officer quickly apprehended the two lads and took them to the station, where after questioning by Chief Van Bibber, one of them admitted the theft and took the officers to the Wilbur Lumber Co. yards, where he uncovered the missing money, which he had buried in the earth along the river bank.

Because of the tender age of the would-be "bad man" the implement company officials declined to prosecute and the boys were given their freedom after having been given a lecture which it hoped they will not soon forget.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO MAKE SEVERAL SPEECHES IN WEST

Considers Invitations for Two Talks in Wisconsin

Superior, Wis., July 17-(AP)—While President Coolidge has outlined for himself no program of speech making for the summer and fall, it was understood today that he had received two invitations to make address in this section before he returned to Washington.

Officials of the Isaac Walton League today requested the President to speak at LaCrosse, Wis., at the dedication of the Upper Mississippi Wild Life and Fish Refuge on such date and hour as may be most convenient to him. He now has this invitation under advisement.

The President has also been invited to speak before the state meeting of the American Legion at Wausau, Wis., between August 10 and 15. He also has that invitation under advisement. He will speak on July 29 at Cannon Falls, Minn., at the dedication of a memorial to Col. William Colville, commander of the First Minnesota Volunteer Regiment at the Battle of Gettysburg.

Announcement was made today at the executive offices that Secretary Kellogg would be unable to visit the summer White House in the immediate future because of the negotiations pending with foreign nations on the treaty to outlaw war required his continued presence at Washington.

Secretary Wilbur is to visit soon at Cedar Island Lodge on his way to the Pacific coast and Mr. Coolidge has invited Secretary Jardine of the Agriculture Department to join him on his train at Minneapolis on July 29 when he is enroute to Cannon Falls for his address there. Mr. Jardine is coming west on account of his health and the President will take this opportunity to confer with him. Attorney General Sargent is expected at Cedar Island Lodge later in the summer.

Friends of the President recalled to day that 1928 is the first year in the exception of 1908, in which Mr. Coolidge had not been a candidate for some office during the past thirty years. They said he has been successful in his candidacies and that he would be equally successful this year in his candidacy for retirement from public life.

Buildings Burn On Henry Hoffman Place

The barn, double garage, machine shed and chicken house on the Henry Hoffman farm, east of the city on Route 3, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin Monday afternoon, entailing a loss of about $1,400, $1,000 of which is sustained by Mr. Hoffman and $400 by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones, the owner's grandchildren, who are tenants on the farm.

The fire, which started in the upper part of the 30x40 barn, was discovered at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon by neighbors, who at once notified Mrs. Jones. Her first thought was of her children, whom, after a few frantic moments, she found safely playing in the house. She then telephoned Chief Thomas Coffey of the Dixon fire department for aid, and he hurried to the scene with chemicals, but by the time he arrived the fire had gained such headway as to limit his assistance to help in saving the house.

The barn had contained Mr. and Mrs. Jones' household furniture and some hay, straw and grain, all of which were consumed. Their car they were able to run out of the garage before it caught fire, and all of the chickens were out in the fields when the chicken house was burned.

SMITH IS LEAVING CAMPAIGN DETAILS TO HIS ORGANIZERS

Think All Will Take Stump About Labor Day and Tour Nation

Albany, N. Y., July 17-(AP)—Apparently in no hurry to disclose the exact lines on which he will conduct his presidential fight, Governor Smith is leaving the formulation of campaign details to a group of friends and Democratic party leaders, who for the most part intend to direct operations from New York City.

John J. Raskob, the new national committee chairman and as such, campaign director, was back in that city today after a week end out of town, as was Herbert Lehman, campaign finance director. They are counted on by the Governor during the next few days to work out a complete campaign organization in conferences with others, among them Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, head of the advisory committee, and Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, of Wyoming, chairman of the women's division.

In consultation with the presidential nominee and his running mate, Senator Robinson, Raskob is expected shortly to announce the dates for the notification of both of their nomination.

The Governor is keeping his plans to himself, but his friends are confident he will take to the stump about Labor Day or shortly thereafter. He plans to get over much of the country.

HUNDREDS SICK FROM EATING POISONED PIE

Boston Hospitals Filled With Victims of Poisoned Food

Boston, July 17-(AP)—Chocolate cream pie today was believed to be responsible for more than 200 cases of food poisoning in Greater Boston. Approximately 75 persons were in hospitals in Somerville, Boston and Medford, as many more had been treated and released while an indeterminate number of others, believed to be several scores, were under treatment at their homes.

The victims were principally employees of industrial plants who had partaken of box lunches yesterday and those who had shared the lunches.

So great was the toll in the Ford automobile plant in Somerville where 150 men and women were affected, many of them collapsing at their machines, that work had to be suspended for the day while those who were helped to rush the stricken to hospitals and physicians' offices.

Two youths, in Judge Trude's court yesterday, objected to the routine $5 and requested the opinion of a jury. The judge so ordered.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kerr of Syracuse spent Sunday visiting friends in Dixon.

HOOVER LEAVING COOLIDGE CAMP TODAY FOR WEST

Coolidge and Hoover Catch Eight Trout Apiece in Brule

Superior, Wis., July 17-(AP)—Coolidge and Hoover left today with President Coolidge, Herbert Hoover left the summer white house at Cedar Island Lodge today for a reception at Duluth before resuming his journey tonight to his old home in California where he is to be notified of his nomination as the republican presidential candidate.

There was no official information as to the matters which formed the subject of conversations between the chief executive and the nominee, but it was announced that Hoover's resignation as Commerce Secretary would not be accepted until after he had reached the Pacific coast and disposed of some matters there relating to his department.

As soon as these have been straightened up, the President will accept the resignation, leaving Mr. Hoover free to devote his entire time to the conduct of his campaign which will be formally launched on August 11 with the notification ceremony at Leland Stanford University.

The President expects these matters to be closed very shortly and then the resignation will be accepted and a successor appointed. Confirmation still was lacking of reports that William M. Butler of Massachusetts, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee, had declined the cabinet place soon to be vacated by Hoover, and his name was still coupled with that of Dwight W. Morrow of New York, Ambassador to Mexico, in the discussion here concerning the appointment.

Visited Executive Offices
Secretary Hoover paid his first visit today to the executive offices in the Superior central high school, motoring in from Cedar Island Lodge with the President, who received callers and disposed of an accumulation of public business. It was stated that the President had a very pleasant visit with Mr. Hoover and that after luncheon they went fishing yesterday in a cove with an Indian Guide, angling both in nearby lakes and along the Brule River.

Had Even Score
It was announced at the White House offices that Mr. Hoover was a more expert fisherman than the President, although in their first joint test of skill the score was even at eight speckled trout each.

While the President was engaged with official business, Mr. Hoover was in a nearby office, receiving officials of the Isaac Walton League, of which he is an honorary president, and conferring with former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, one of the foremost Hoover supporters in this part of the country.

Hands Off In Wisconsin

J. T. Murphy, Superior publisher, after a conference with the Republican nominee said that the latter had asked him to announce that the Hoover administration would keep strictly aloof from the Wisconsin gubernatorial struggle. Secretary Hoover, he said, would not exert his influence on behalf of either one of the three candidates especially.

The three candidates are the in-

SHAKEUP IN MISS. MAY END CONTROL OF NEGROES THERE

Expect Arrest of Perry Howard, Negro Party Leader

Biloxi, Miss., July 17-(AP)—While a federal grand jury continued to receive evidence of methods employed by Mississippi Republican leaders in dispensing federal patronage today, speculation became rife as to what effect the investigation would have on sentiment which has kept a group of negroes in control of party affairs in the state.

A bitter factional struggle has been waged within the party in the state for the past several years with the forces headed by Perry W. Howard, negro national Republican committee from Mississippi, bitterly opposed at every turn by the group headed by George L. Sheldon, former Governor of Nebraska and now a Delta farmer, and leader of the "Lily-White" faction advocating white leadership. Sheldon has made several attempts to oust Howard from his acknowledged position of party leader.

The arrest of Howard, negro special assistant Attorney General and recognized Republican leader in Mississippi on an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the law prohibiting sale of federal offices was imminent today in Washington.

At the same time three of six others under indictment on similar charges were enroute here today for arraignment before Judge Edwin R. Holmes in federal court.

Howard, with S. D. Redmond, A. M. Redmond and Ed L. Patton, Negroes, arrested yesterday at Jackson, Miss., and Scott Hubbard, deputy United States Marshal stationed at Biloxi, was charged with conspiring and receiving $1,500 for the appointment of A. P. Russell of Magee as deputy marshal for the southern district. Russell served from June until October, 1927.

TWO REPUBLICANS IN TEXAS BOLTED HOOVER'S TICKET

J. M. O'Hara and "Goose-neck" Bill McDonald Now For Smith

Dallas, Texas, July 17-(AP)—V. A. Coolins of Dallas, former state senator, presiding at a rally of anti-Smith Democrats here today, urged every Democrat in Texas to vote for Herbert Hoover for President and repudiate "the powers of iniquity."

Mr. Coolins declared that "any man who would strike down the eighteenth amendment also would strike down section three, article six, of the constitution, pertaining to religious freedom."

About 350 persons were present when the rally convened. The chairman, who is an ardent dry, predicted the Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, the Democratic presidential nominee, would carry only a few counties in Texas. He promised Herbert Hoover a 10,000 majority in Dallas county.

"I don't know if there still is a Ku Klux Klan organization in Texas," said Mr. Coolins, "but if they are opposed to Al Smith I wish there were ten million of them in the state."

The speaker reiterated the fact that the organization meeting today was interested only in the forming of a state wide campaign to bring about the defeat of the Democratic nominee. "We are not promoting any candidate for state office," he declared.

San Antonio, Texas, July 17-(AP)—Democratic candidates in Texas who refuse to support Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, the party nominee for President, may be barred from a place on the primary ballot, the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals ruled here today.

TWO LEADERS BOLTED
Dallas, Tex., July 17-(AP)—Texas Republican party bolters today were ready to fill some of the places in the state Democratic organization vacated by insurgents opposed to the election of Governor Smith of New York.

While Democratic bolters were assembling here for a meeting today to consider plans for an anti-Smith alliance with regular Republicans, two leaders of the latter party sought entry to the camp of the New York Governor. J. M. O'Hara, organization manager of the state Republican committee which unsuccessfully fought for the nomination of W. M. (Gooseneck) Bill McDonald, Negro Republican leader, announced at Fort Worth that they would seek the following to support Governor Smith:

O'Hara and McDonald claimed to control 250,000 votes. They based this claim on balloting in 1924 when 289,000 votes were cast for the Republican gubernatorial candidate who was beaten by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson. In that election, President Coolidge received 130,023 votes.

Anti-Smith Democrats, here for the rally today, indicated they would confine their activities largely to the presidential campaign and would not take sides in the races for state offices.

UNIVERSITIES ARE OBSOLETE, SAY EDUCATORS

Whole School Structure is Out Of Date Says Prof. Morrison

Chicago, July 17-(AP)—American universities were decried as out-of-date and awkward by University of Chicago educators at the institute for administrative officers of higher learning yesterday.

"Obsolete," was Prof. Henry C. Morrison's characterization of the whole school structure. He is superintendent of the University of Chicago laboratory school.

"Our universities are not giving leadership because they are doing secondary school work," he said, in urging local junior colleges for freshmen and sophomores.

The college grades plan was denounced by Dean Chauncey J. Boucher, who called it "purchase of a degree on the installment plan."

If You Think It's Hot Here You Should Try Warsaw at 144

London, July 17-(AP)—Deaths from the heat wave which has spread over Europe have reached a high total and the rush of thousands to the sea, rivers and lakes has led to many scores of drownings.

While the temperature in southern England dropped about 10 degrees yesterday dispatches from the continent report a continuance of the heat and in some places an increase in temperature. Temperatures of from 95 to 100 degrees were common in wide areas and in some places the thermometer was much higher.

The Daily Mail today said that it was 144 in Warsaw. A temperature of 116 was reported from Budapest and of 131 from Lake Balaton, fifty miles from Budapest. The whole Hungarian plain was sizzling.

"ITALIA WAS MISMANAGED" —MALMGREN

Survivor of Dirigible Says Dr. Malmgren Feared Trouble

Moscow, July 17-(AP)—The newspaper Izvestia today published an interview with Professor F. Behounek, a survivor of the ill-fated Italia in which he quoted Dr. Finn Malmgren as saying the dirigible had been mismanaged.

The statement that they left Malmgren behind alone in a grave of ice has been attributed to his rescued criticism of the Noble expedition. Behounek, a Czechoslovakian meteorologist, was one of the group hurled on the ice by the crash and rescued by the Russian ice breaker Krassin.

(General Noble sent a statement to Stockholm last week saying that he had no misunderstandings with Dr. Malmgren and that relations of the whole party were at all times frank and hearty.)

The dispatch to Izvestia, from its correspondent aboard the Krassin quoted Behounek as saying of the expedition:

"Throughout we had been overworked and had little sleep. "Said Ship Was Mismanaged" "Shortly before the crash, I went to awaken Pontremoli (Italian scientist, still missing) who was sleeping, but met Dr. Finn Malmgren, who seemed worried. He told me the airship had been mismanaged. "Returning to my seat I noticed a meter was indicating a rapid descent. Cecconi, (motor chief) instantly threw out of the last ballast of 170 kilos of metal. We immediately rose 400 meters. Then we rapidly began to descend again. "May Be Still Alive "About fifteen minutes after the initial crash and after the dirigible had carried off the Allessandri group (of six men) we saw smoke but did not hear an explosion, which indicated the possibility that the group is alive. "Our desire to investigate the area southeast of the pole wrecked the dirigible as we purposely drifted with a storm to enable the making of this investigation. "We remained over the pole at a height of 150 meters for two hours scientific results of the expedition were satisfactory. I carried on scientific investigations after the

MODERNISM IN THE CHURCH IS "UNCHRISTIAN"

Walther League Convention Hears Bitter Attack on Modernism

Milwaukee, July 16.—(AP)—Modernism in the protestant church was attacked as unchristian, "typically anti-Christ" and "a deception of the devil" by the Rev. W. K. Klandworth of Dallas, Texas, in an address before the International Walther League convention today.

Its proponents, the convention was told, "have laid unholy hands on the holy book and endeavored to tear it to pieces."

"Modernism," said the Rev. Klandworth, "though it often parades under the beautiful name christianity, is modern heathenism teaching salvation by the merit of man, and not by the mercy of God in Christ Jesus."

"Doubt, despair and eternal damnation must be the lot of all who embrace this deception of the devil called modernism."

The story of how the Walther League was formed at Buffalo, N. Y., May 23, 1892, was told by Ernest Eggert, Milwaukee, one of the charter members.

"With the large opposition, much of it from the pastors who were then thinking that we were forming a church in the church, we had uphill work and at times it looked as if the league was doomed," Mr. Eggert said, "but thanks to our Lord, we could go right on and today the league is showing great results."

More young people than ever before in the history of the country, Governor Fred R. Zimmerman of Wisconsin told the conference, are showing themselves interested in religious matters.

"There never was a time in the history of the Christian church when Christianity and the faith of our fathers had as a strong hold on our young people," the Governor said.

"While you are here this morning in an effort to bring about a greater association between you, the church and your creator, there are 36 couples continually dancing, dancing day and night to determine whether or not they can make a new record in the dancing records of the world. While you are here to see what good you can do for humanity, they are over there trying to determine how much in two or three or four weeks they may be able to take out of the vitality of their lives, in order to prove that you can dance a month without stopping."

"That comes to prove that Christianity came into the world to bring a new message and that mankind should not perish but have everlasting life, and that does not come from those who can dance a month but from those that can pray."

ILLINOIS POLITICS BEGINS TO SIMMER AT HEADQUARTERS

Shanahan in Charge—Discuss Rathbone's Successor

Springfield, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Orchardists of the state will ship approximately 2,300 carloads of peaches this year, it is estimated in a bulletin issued today by the state and federal departments of agriculture.

The apple crops is forecast at 4,954,000 bushels, half a million more than in 1927 but nearly two million bushels below the five year average.

The commercial movement is estimated at 1,032,000 barrels, as compared to 804,000 last year and the five-year average of 1,162,000 barrels.

The pear crop, set at 497,000 bushels, also is considerably above last year's production of 312,000 bushels, but 6 per cent below the five-year average. Grapes are more favorable with an estimated crop of 81 per cent as compared to 50 per cent last year and 74 per cent over a ten-year period.

NEW RESCUE PLANS
Moscow, July 17.—(AP)—New Russian plans for a search for the missing Amundson party were developed today as the rescue ship Krassin was slowly pounding its way toward Aden Bay carrying seven of the crew of the Italia, snatched from the ice last week and the nine members of two rescue parties including the aviator Chukhnovsky picked up Sunday night.

With the Krassin temporarily out of the search of lack of fuel the Russian ice breaker, Malgin, now in northern waters, is under instructions to make a through search for the Amundson party. The Malgin today was 40 miles east from King Karl Island, south of Northeast Land, and was fighting a heavy storm which has been raging since early morning. The instructions were to the Malgin to search for Amundson and then to return to Archangel.

The Malgin on Saturday reported reaching the 79th parallel. She was to work around the southern part of Northeast Land while the Krassin was making her way along the northern coast. Both ships having as their objective the vigili party of five men stranded near Foy Island.

When the Krassin picked up the five men last week in addition to rescuing captains Alberto Mariano and Filippo Zappi who had been given up for dead, the Malgin was instructed to turn south again to make a thorough search between Norway and Spitzbergen for Amundson and his five companions who have been missing since June 18.

Today the Malgin reported that arrangements were being completed for the Amundson search, but that halted because of the storm and the heavy ice seas encountered east of King Karl Island. The storm has been driving the ice cutter and the surrounding ice in a northwestern direction toward Cape Antman on King Karl Island.

LONG STOMACH MISERY AT END WITH GLY-CAS

Lady Had Tried All Kinds of Medicines for Past 15 Years; Like New Now.

"It is an absolute fact that Gly-Cas is the only medicine ever to give me real benefits and I did not have to use half a dozen boxes to get them," Mrs. Emma Pelton, 211 First Ave., Clinton, Iowa, says in a statement received at Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, Dixon.

Superior, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover had a few hours more today with President Coolidge at the summer white house on the Brule River before resuming his westward journey tonight to Palo Alto for his official notification ceremonies next month.

While Hoover will continue to hold the title of Commerce Secretary until his successor is appointed, it is known that he is definitely through with that office and so will be able to devote all of his time hereafter to the planning of the strategy of his campaign and to conducting his personal contest for the presidency.

Discussion of this strategy was among the things that brought Hoover to the northern Wisconsin hills yesterday for an overnight visit at the summer white house. But the conversations between the president and the nominee covered a wider range, and were believed to have encompassed questions of policy.

Break Even On Fish
Before beginning their conferences, the President and Mr. Hoover had a couple of hours of recreation, fishing at the Brule River, where Mr. Coolidge has been successful during his month's visit here, and where the republican nominee fished fifteen years ago. The official announcement of the day's catch yesterday—eight each—indicated the president and his guest were well matched in the art of angling.

Miss Hazel Van Bibber, Telephone Operator, and Miss Mary Louise Downing, of the Purchasing Department, were chairman and secretary of the meeting, which was called at 4 p. m.

The meeting was opened by each employee giving, on roll call, a non-technical definition of an electrical term and its application in the home, following which visits were made to the Dixon Steam Station and Hydro Plant. The women were escorted through the plants by O. W. Dodd, Fred Moore, A. E. McBride, and E. J. Decker, who explained the history, procedure, and plant record to each group.

A dozen or so male escorts joined the group at 5:30 p. m. and journeyed to Crawford's, where a delicious chicken supper was served. The evening was brought to a pleasant close with a plunge in Franklin pool, Donald Stauffer falling heir to the prize in the women's swimming contest and Ed Hillecker, the men's.

Eight small onions, ½ pound green beans, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup sifted canned tomatoes, 1 cup chopped left-over meat.

Cook onions and beans separately until tender, using a little water as possible to prevent burning. Place onions in a well buttered shallow baking dish, spreading them out so they do not touch each other. Fill spaces between with beans. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add tomato puree. Bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly and add meat. Season sauce with salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon sugar and pour over onions and beans. Dot with tiny bits of butter and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Serve from baking dish.

Short Interviews With Famous Women

"Compatible? Why should not two singers be compatible, though married? Of course it can be done!"

That was the merry answer Mary Lewis, Metropolitan singer gave to the query "Can two artists live happily ever after?"

Miss Lewis, as everyone knows, has the dual role of being a star married to a star, Michel Bohnen, basso-bartone of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

"I think it would be foolish for an artist to marry another artist unless there was mutual respect for each other's gifts and mutual consideration of their careers," Miss Lewis continued.

"Disposition, temper and other personal equations are more potent factors in disrupting marriages than the fact that both a man and wife sing."

"I see no reason why a larger proportion of divorces should result from the marriage of two singers than from those of any other class of human beings."

"I think picking on this thing or that as a cause for divorce begs the question of the real difficulty. The whole question really is the old, old poser, 'Do you really love each other?' If the answer is 'yes,' the fact of similar careers has little to do with it. All will be well. If not, well, Paris and Reno know what happens."

Illinois Briefs

Aurora—Edward E. J. Timmons, former instructor at the Chicago Art Institute, will assemble a group of eighty paintings this summer for exhibition at the Central States Fair here in August. Fair officials sponsoring the project said they wished to educate the fair visitors to works of art. Lectures will be held.

Springfield—One hundred and four Illinois cities and villages now own municipal parks, ranging in area from Chicago's 4,487 acres to Steelville's half acre it was reported in a survey by the Illinois Municipal League.

The eleven cities having the largest parks, exclusive of Chicago are: East St. Louis, 1,351 acres; Peoria, 891; Springfield, 885; Decatur, 731; Rockford, 579; Quincy, 333; Elgin, 327; Bloomington, 220; Aurora, 180; Moline, 178; and Galesburg, 170.

Springfield—Road contractors may start paving at the beginning, the end, or in the middle of the section awarded them. The only requisite is that they start.

This was the opinion of Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, delivered to the state's attorney of Kankakee county. The state's attorney had inquired whether the construction company should start work at the point designated as the commencement, or at any point along the project.

His query related to a state highway, designated as a state aid road, parts of which are in Kankakee and Iroquois counties. The question apparently arose as to which county should witness the first paving.

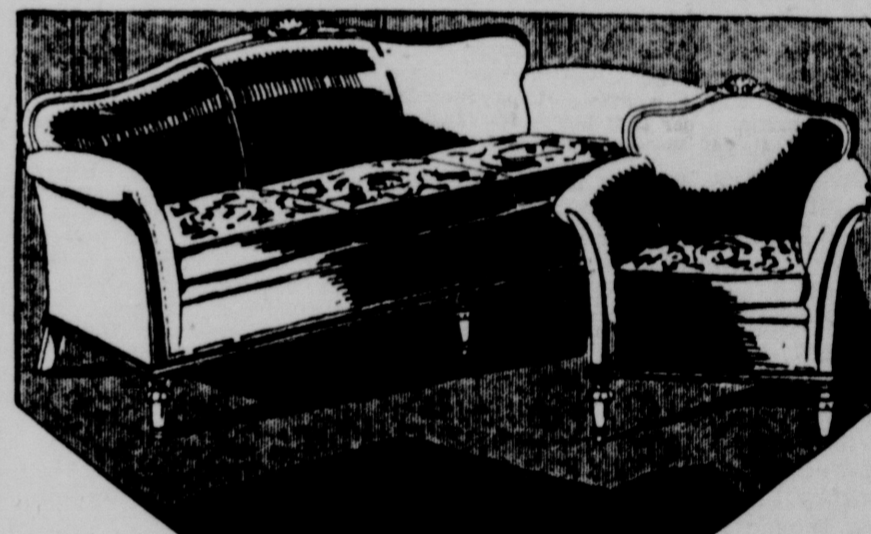

A search of court rulings and of state statutes, Carlstrom replied, failed to throw any light on the question. Taking this into consideration, Carlstrom ruled that the absence of explicit instructions left the contractor free to start where he wished.

Unless there was a provision in the contract calling for the contractor to start in one of the two disputing counties, the contractor would be compelled to select his own beginning, Carlstrom said.

MERCHANTS 14; BROWNS 0
With Bob Hargrave in the box and pitching like a major leaguer the Merchants team of the Industrial baseball league toyed with the Browns in their twilight game played at Singer's field Monday evening, the Merchants gathering 14 good health tallies while the Browns were vainly trying to get a view of the plate from the southeast corner. A good sized crowd witnessed the slaughter.

GOLFING PASTOR
Inglewood, Calif.—A golfing pastor who takes his recreation in the pulpit is Rev. Dr. Horace S. Cushing of the First Baptist Church here. Sundays find him in the pulpit with his "plus fours" and other golfing requisites very much in evidence.

HENRY R. RATHBONE.

The news of the death of Henry R. Rathbone, member of Congress from Illinois, brings sadness to a host of friends in Dixon as well as other parts of the state. He had visited here many times and had bought a home site on Rock River near here intending to build a country home. His death takes away a splendid character and it is a distinct loss to political circles in this state.

The Telegraph has felt especially friendly to Mr. Rathbone since his entry into politics and has always taken pride in supporting a man of his high type of integrity and ability. We join with all of Illinois in mourning his death.

THE BACKWOODS PASSES.

The great army of American vacation seekers already is on the march. For the next two months and more, automobile loads of men, women and children will be leaving cities and towns daily, bound for relaxation in new scenes.

These motor parties will cover many thousands of miles. Hardly a county in the United States will fail to see some of them. Yet, for all this wandering far afield, hardly any of the motorists will see any real, old-fashioned "backwoods" country.

It wasn't many years ago that every state had its backwoods. The term didn't so much refer to actual forest lands; it meant isolated, thinly settled regions where the current of life was always half a century behind times—places where new ideas, new styles, new trends in thought and action, never penetrated until long years after the rest of the country had adopted them.

Such places are hard to find now. Go into the smallest village you can find. The chances are you will see girls dressed just as the girls dress in New York and Chicago. You will find people talking about the same things people in the big cities are discussing. They will know just as much about the news of the day as anyone. If you go prepared to apply the term "hick," you will find very, very little occasion to use it. This change represents a greater revolution in our national life than we often realize. The old barriers of distance have broken down. No longer is Oklahoma a different world than New York. The frontier has passed, and with it have passed frontier ignorance, sectionalism and suspicion.

You will, now and then, meet people who deplore all of this. They talk of "standardization," as if it were some frightful curse. They feel that we have lost something in this new uniformity of culture. Better, in their eyes, were the old days when "backwoods" meant every place outside the limits of some city. Muddy country roads, cramped box-like school houses, kerosene lamps in unpainted farmhouses and ignorant, hemmed-in country folk—these seem to have some strange beauties in the eyes of the foes of standardization.

For the people directly involved, however—the people who actually live in the distant country regions—the thing looks different. No need to ask them whether automobiles, good roads, radios, movies, mail order houses and national magazines have made life easier and more pleasant. They know; and they would not go back to the old days.

Few things in recent American history are more significant than this passing of the backwoods.

Cannibal mosquitoes have been imported to eat up the kind of mosquitoes that bite you. Wonder if, where those hard-boiled mosquitoes came from, there are any cannibal insurance salesmen?

National prohibition officials are seeking $100,000 worth of pre-war whisky which disappeared. One place where they needn't look for it is among the bootleggers.

The government announces that 15 out of every 100 marriages end in divorce. Only about 85 women out of 100 can learn to shoot straight.

A small town is one where the newspaper occasionally carries the item about the leading citizen having his 1918 Ford repaired.

A bootlegger was arrested in Kansas City the other day for parking on the wrong side of the street. Is there nothing these bad men will stop at?

Mother Grets Pacific Flyer

When Harry Lyon, one of the Southern Cross flyers who hopped from San Francisco to Australia, returned to Prisco the other day, his mother, Mrs. Leila Lyon, of Paris Hill, Me., was first to greet him. She had meant to scold him for being so reckless, but the lower picture shows what really happened. Above Lyon stands with his hand raised, before the microphone, with James Warner, another of the flyers, to the right.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Poor Clowdy hung upon the rope. It seemed there wasn't any hope of all the others seeing him. They drifted far away. Then Clowdy yelled, "If you don't mind, come rescue me. I'm left behind." This time the Tinties heard him and they headed back his way.

They steered the hippo right around and very shortly Clowdy found that he was being rescued from his place out in mid-air. When he was with the bunch once more, he said, "My hands are pretty sore from hanging to that rope. I'm glad I got away from there."

"Well, this time stay down in this seat," said Scouty. "Be discreet. You're always doing foolish things that get you in a mess. A lot of things we'd rather do than spend our time in saving you. But there's no use in talking, you will never learn, I guess."

Poor Clowdy heaved a little sigh and then he said, "You're right, but I will cause you no more trouble. I'll be quiet as can be. However, it seems quite a shame that I should always get the blame. No matter what it is goes wrong, you always pick on me."

Just then the bunch began to tip. They felt the seat beneath them slip. "We're falling," shouted Copy. "Look! Our seat rope's come untied." And then the frightened Tinty pack fell slowly off the hippo's back. "Oh me, oh my," yelled Carpy. "That's the end of our fine ride."

The seat then let go with a crash. The Tintymites then went kersplash. They landed in the water and began to swim towards shore. This gave the hippo quite a fright and he soon swam right out of sight. While swimming Clowdy shouted, "We'll never see him any more."

(The Tintymites have some fishing luck in the next story).

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

The Fast Way to Health

QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH & DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED IN CARE OF THIS PAPER

ENCLOSURE STAMPED ADDRESS ENVELOPE FOR REPLY

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Evening Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

A SUCCESSFUL LIFE

It is a good plan to walk home after work or to at least cover from three to five miles every day, even though you may have been walking during your working hours. In addition, use some calisthenics or exercises, trying to work up a good sweat through the exercising, and taking a cold shower afterwards. Next, lie in bed and relax for about a half hour and then change into fresh clothes for dinner. You will feel an abundance of health and vitality after following this regime for a few weeks.

Your dinner should consist of one of the good proteins such as beef, mutton, rabbit, chicken, fish or fowl, using one-fourth to a half pound, and the choice of one or more of the cooked non-starchy vegetables which are listed for your luncheon, and a choice of any of the raw salad vegetables. You may also have a dish of Jello, stewed fruit or ice cream for dessert.

Your evening should be spent in some type of recreation, such as reading, conversation, or attending the theater. You owe it to both yourself and your family to take in a good show once or twice weekly. Do not work during the evenings. You will have better success with your business if you relax and save your strength to concentrate during your working hours.

Try these suggestions which I have given you and I am sure that you will notice an improvement, both physically and mentally. Many of my patients tell me that after they have gained their health they were able to do five or six times as much as they were capable of previously, and in many instances their incomes and salaries have increased in a like proportion.

Even though you came to my office for personal advice, unless you are suffering from some serious disease, I doubt if I could give you better advice than the regime which I have just outlined, and although this advice has not been very costly to you, you can make it just as valuable as you wish if you are willing to follow strictly the rules which I have outlined.

A strong body, free from pain, is the natural right and heritage of every living being. Even though you have lived haphazardly up to the present time, you can probably develop a stronger and more efficient body than you have now.

Physical and mental improvement are not accidental. They are a result of scientific laws which you can learn as well as any one else. While health should be a natural condition, so many have departed from natural living that it is necessary to make an intensive scientific study of health-building if we wish to obtain the highest mark of perfection.

It will be splendid if each of us will remember that we have a body for development, and that this body is the finest piece of property that we will ever possess during this life, and the conservation and cultivation of our health and ideals will bring us far greater dividends than any real estate we may develop, business we can control, or bonds we can own.

Make the preservation and development of health the paramount interest in your life. Here's to your health, vigor and vitality!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—H. G. writes: "I have been advised that my lungs are tubercular. Would living near the sea be beneficial?"

ANSWER—Mild cases of tuberculosis may be cured in any climate. Advanced cases are serious whether one lives in the desert or near the sea. I have a special series of articles on tuberculosis which explain its cause and treatment which I shall be very glad to send to you if you will send me a large, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

QUESTION—R. J. asks: "Will you please tell me a good way to treat warts? I have several on my left hand. Have been treating them with iodine and also caustic pencil, but am getting poor results."

ANSWER—A small crystal of glacial acetic acid may be dissolved on top of the wart. This will usually cause it to disappear. If the wart is large, this treatment should be repeated after several days.

QUESTION—R. M. asks: "Is zwiebach similar to Melba toast?"

ANSWER—Zwiebach is similar to Melba toast, but it is not always as wholesome as the Melba toast in the home, since most commercial varieties of zwiebach contain sugar, and are not thoroughly dextrinized.

QUESTION—Mrs. M. B. G. writes: "I have a lump on the right side of my neck about the size of a pea that has been there for over four years. Has never bothered me but I get worried at its being there. It is movable. Would like to know what causes it."

ANSWER—The lump is probably a fatty tumor and will cause no harm. If it does not increase in size or pain you in any way I would advise you to leave it alone. However, the operation for removing this kind of tumor is a very simple one and not attended by very much danger and

"MOM"
Their Letters
BY RUTH DEWEY GROVE

Dear Mom:

I'm certainly glad that I invested wisely and wildly in smart clothes before I left Madame Elise's shop, for I need all my war paint here.

This hotel is filling up fast, and the majority of the population is of my own sex. I am surrounded by the most snappy and unscrupulous flappers, and the most elegantly marcelled and groomed matrons, and it looks as if it were going to resolve itself into a matter of every woman for herself.

Somehow, I had forgotten the fierce competition that goes on for the elusive male. For a while, I guess I have been riding high, and I haven't felt it. And by my simple system of keeping Alan constantly on the alert looking out for me, he has had very little time to get into trouble himself.

But here, I feel him slipping out of my hands. Undoubtedly all my work will be spoiled, if we stay. What with Helen yamping him beautifully, and actually having reduced him to the point of subjection where he will run errands for her, and listen to singing, and with about three others in hot pursuit I long for the good old days when I used to come in with my face smashed up in another man's car, and get a little attention myself.

There is painfully little material for me here. Brother Shelton, whom I regard as my best bet, at the present time, is scarcely my ideal.

He quite frankly disapproves of my language, my accent, my independence, and my sunburn. He says I am abominably educated, and have no accomplishments that really matter. And yet, he says I have the most classically cut head, and the best modelled features he has seen in years—and that I am full of unrealized talents and possibilities.

It would have been much better for me, he thinks, to have had a career instead of having married, for now, he says I will never be more than an enthusiast and a gabbler.

What he is really doing, is trying not to fall in love with me. For in spite of not approving of me, he really likes me, and he fights against the idea. As a matter of principle, I must humble his proud spirit. That is why I am going out with him tonight in his boat for a sail after dinner.

Anyhow, that will give Alan an excellent opportunity to listen to Helen's troubles for a few hours. Perhaps if he hears enough of them, I may not be called on to interfere.

Yours for trouble,
MARYE.

NEXT: Mom is worried.

JUST LIKE A KID

Youngstown, O.—When a stranger told Patsy Cinquegrano that he'd surely get rich and have a lot of diamonds when he grew up, Patsy wanted to show off. "I got diamonds," Patsy said, and ran into the house and got his sister's. It was a good diamond, and the stranger thought it so good that he put on his running shoes and beat it—with the diamond.

GETTA RUBBER SHIRT

London—Babe Ruth isn't the only one who has to reduce. News here is that London's portly "Bobbies" must "reduce or retire." The London cops are anxious about the rumor and it is said that the heavy blue-coats are presenting an argument that "fatness means fitness."

Now that house cleaning time has arrived you may find articles of furniture you wish to dispose of. A 50c ad in the Dixon Telegraph is bound to bring results.

Trouble for Fair Helen?

After the brilliant form she showed in defending her world's tennis championship at Wimbledon, tennis critics feel sure that it will be some time before Miss Helen Wills will be in danger of losing her crown. Most prominent among the young players who may cause her trouble, however, is "Midge" Gladman, the charming 19-year-old Santa Monica miss, who is
 woman's champion, the Southern California woman's champion, the Iowa State woman's champion, the Missouri Valley woman's champion, and just recently she started her summer campaign by winning the Tri-State (Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky) championship.

New Safety Service

BRAKES
 cause accidents or prevent them which kind are yours?

It only takes one skid—one emergency in which brakes fail to hold—to cause an accident. It might be slight—perhaps a jammed fender—and it might cost a life. Why gamble with chance? Brakes, out of balance or not equalized will cause a car to skid to the right or left. Four-wheel brakes—when out of adjustment
 —add no more to your ability to stop than two-wheel brakes. Your car is only as safe as its brakes. Keep them in perfect adjustment.

We have installed a new JUMBO Giant Brake
 Tester that scientifically tests two or four-wheel brakes. Use our accurate test every 1500 miles. If adjustments are needed we will make

SOUTH DAKOTA FIELDS
 INFESTED WITH MICE
 Rapid City, S. D.—(AP)—Thousands of tiny field mice are making life miserable for Jones county farmers through depredations on corn fields. As many as 1300 acres in one county were destroyed.

 Louis Knowles, predatory animal director, and his assistants poisoned 2154 rodents on a single tract alone, and that, Knowles says, was only 75 per cent of the total number in the field.
 Naturally prolific, the white-footed rodents have multiplied amazingly since destruction of their natural enemies such as crows, hawks, snakes and owls.
 The territory infested, Knowles says, covers a distance roughly estimated at 50 miles in length and half that distance wide.

LEADERSHIP OF LEAGUE WILL BE DECIDED SUNDAY

Dixon Independents and Polo Will Mix Here in Crucial Game

The first of the "crucial games" of the Black Hawk league season will be played at the Dixon Independents' field at Eighth street and Van Buren avenue next Sunday afternoon, when the Polo team, with which the Independents are tied for the league lead will come for a battle which will give one or the other of the outfits undisputed possession of the top rung of the ladder.

Both teams have won two and lost none, both are playing bang-up baseball and the fans will get a real treat when they clash.

Outclassed Rockford.

In Sunday's game with the Rockford H. A. C. team at Rockford the Independents were the whole show, and but for a couple of errors the Rockford boys would not have scored on Reddish. The team played great ball in the pinches, and in one inning when errors had put Rockford men on first and third with none out the side was retired without a score.

Features of the game aside from Reddish's pitching, were a hit a mile long by Skelton on which he was caught at the plate on a triple play—showing Skelton is not built for speed—and some dandy hitting by the same Skelton and Rusk. The score:

With Tunney in His Training Camp

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Sports Writer

Speculator, N. Y.—Gene Tunney has been the utmost personification of confidence in his actions and in his speech. When he was preparing for his first fight with Jack Dempsey he was oratorical in his predictions that he would beat the man-killer and win the heavyweight championship. He was so confident that observers around the camp judged him crazy, but he proved that is confidence was soundly based.

In getting ready for the second defense of his title against Tom Heene, the champion is so assured of himself, it seems, that he will discuss even minor details of the approaching battle only with reluctance and he as to be prodded into it.

"Why did you pick Heene for your opponent?" he was asked as a prod. "Did you want a soft man?" "I want it thoroughly understood that I did not pick Heene," he tapped back. "I didn't have anything to do with the selection of my opponent. I agreed to permit Rick to name the challenger and I accepted the choice of Heene because I think Heene is the best of all the contenders. If I didn't think so I could not have accepted his nomination."

"How about Sharkey?" "Sharkey isn't the champion," answered, pointing to his heart. "The fact that he fought Harry Wills, so generally referred to as proof of his usage, means nothing. Any second class heavyweight could have beaten Wills years before he did. I can prove you that Wills refused $250,000 to fight me. He wouldn't meet anyone I set-ups and with the help of the officials in charge of the sport he would be easy for him or he would have accepted the match for a name and Sharkey would not have fought him if he didn't feel just as that Wills was a cinch for him."

"How about Risko?" "Risko is a very brave fellow," Tunney answered. "He will be ready in 10 years. Yes, in two years he will be right up there. But, with the exception of Heene, they all lack something to qualify them as a first class challenger.

Further attempts to draw him out on the subject of Heene and what is going to happen to him in the Yankee Stadium start him talking about other things unless he wants to use it as the means of putting in a subtle crack at a critic.

For instance, he shifted the conversation at one point and said to the writer with a pleasant smile that had some vinegar with it:

"How is it that you haven't asked me yet in what round I expect to be knocked out?"

"Well, in what round do you expect to get it?" he was asked.

"In the round before the fight, Hal!" he replied.

In another moment he ventured as near a prediction as he will approach when he felt bigger and stronger, just as fast as he ever and that he is punching "twenty-five per cent stronger."

He has also, he admits, a definite plan of battle mapped to carry against Heene's fights and he believes in blue printed plans before the battle. He has always planned his fights and with one exception, adhered to them without deviation in the ring.

George Bernard Shaw, experting on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, gave him the way to beat Dempsey, he says, and if Carpentier had followed the counsel of the Irish sage he might have beaten Dempsey, too he says.

"I knew for two years before I met him that I could master Dempsey," Tunney said. "I knew that if I had him in the ring the night I fought Gibbons I could have knocked him out. I knew from the time I read Shaw's story that he was right. The way to beat Dempsey was to avoid exchanges with him, fight him from the outside, move around him and keep him from getting set. Carpentier elected to exchange with him. If he had followed Shaw's advice he might have beaten him. Of course Carpentier was only a middleweight then and he might not have been able to out stay Dempsey, but he would have made a much better showing than he did."

"If you have a plan to fight Heene, what is it?" he was asked.

"Wouldn't that be just lovely for all your papers if I told you," he laughed off in answer and then wanted to know if I didn't think that Steve Hannagan was getting too fat.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Whether it's because of psychology, the law of averages, luck or what have you, the Chicago White Sox are playing winning ball under the management of Lena Blackburne.

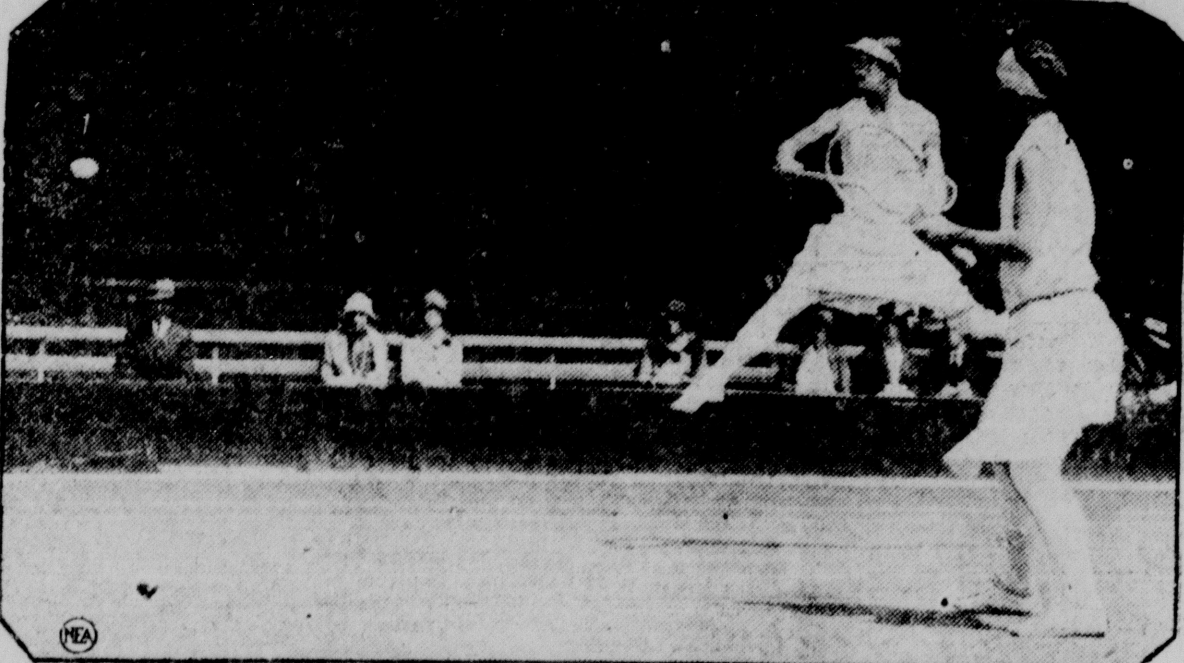

Since Blackburne took over the reins on July 5, the day after Ray Schalk resigned as manager, the Sox have turned in nine victories in 12 starts.

For the second time in two playing days, the pale Hose took over both ends of a double header with the Boston Red Sox, yesterday, 4 to 0 and 9 to 1. While Red Faber and Ted Blankenship were holding the Hub team to 14 hits and a single run in the two battles, the White Sox were hammering out 29 hits off Rufing, Harriss and Simmons.

The New York Yankees demonstrated conclusively that they recovered from their recent slump by taking their second consecutive double header from the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 3 and 6 to 2.

Babe Ruth hit his 35th home of this year in the third inning of the opener and now stands 22 games, 25 days and five home runs ahead of his 1927 schedule.

The Philadelphia Athletics dropped further back in the race when they gained no better than an even break in two games with the Detroit Tigers. Jack Quinn, veteran of Connie Mack's firing squad, registered his 12th victory of the season in the first struggle, 3 to 2. George Earnshaw had the second in his pocket until the eighth inning when the Tigers hammered him out of the box and slugged Rube Walberg and Joe Bush around until thirteen men had batted and nine of them had scored.

Albin Crowder hung up his 11th win against a single defeat as the Browns romped off with a 4 to 2 decision over the Washington Senators.

Winning and losing streaks have become the fashion in the National League. Yesterday's affairs saw the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs each win their seventh consecutive game while the Phils were losing their ninth straight and the Boston Braves their eighth.

Behind steady pitching by Ray Kremer and with the aid of some heavy cannonading by George Grantham and Paul Waner, the Pirates turned back the Braves, 8 to 3.

The Cubs pounded four Phil pitchers into a 10 to 5 defeat at Chicago. Sheriff Blake shut out the cellar occupants until the eighth when he eased up back of a big lead his teammates, particularly Kiki Cuyler and Freddy Maguire, had garnered for him.

The St. Louis Cardinals, smarting under two straight setbacks by Brooklyn, nosed out the Dodgers in the third game of the series, 7 to 6. After the Dodgers had tied the score in the eighth by tallying four runs, the Cards won the game in the ninth on hits by Bottomley and Hafey and

LATZO BATTLED GAMESLY IN VAIN TO REGAIN TITLE

Loughran Retains His Crown in Slugging Battle Last Eve

BY EDWARD J. NEILL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 17—(AP)—Fudgy Pete Latzo, brown-skinned Slax who once mined coal in these Pocono Mountains, was just a good, game fighter today while Tommy Loughran, handsome Philadelphia youngster, still was the light heavyweight champion of the world.

For the second time in seven weeks Latzo, pride of the miners he once labored beside, battered and slugged last night at the superb technique and boxing skill of the master of the 175 pounds and for the second time received nothing but a bloody nose and the short end of the purse for his pains.

Latzo struggled with every ounce of the strength in his rugged body to win the title, but the master, Loughran, badly shaken though he was at times, with blood streaming from cuts in his right eye and cheek, always was able to muster the final ounce of class and stamina that marks the true champion.

Therein lay the story of Latzo's defeat and victory for the statusque Loughran after one of the most bruising battles the rugged miners of this section, tough and iron-fisted enough in their own private melees, ever have seen.

Faced by a cutting left jab that lingered always in his features, stabbing him off balance, bringing his staunchest drives up short, Latzo battled through Loughran's guard in the third and fourth rounds to split Tommy's left eye brow and stain the champion's face with a mask of red.

Pete almost smashed the champion to the floor in the fourth round. But there his attack faltered. Cagey, content, too, to save strength even when the going was hottest, Loughran steadily fought his own fight, piled up points, and had enough of a margin at the close of the tenth session to win the verdict. The match drew $60,000, Promoter Morgan Bird estimated. Loughran got $25,000, Latzo $7500.

Challenger Plans Top Speed Work Now

Fairhaven, N. J., July 17—(AP)—Tom Heene slid back into the serious grind of training today, after a day's lay-off, returning to the practice of working out in the afternoon instead of the cool of the evening.

Boxing at night, Heene found, disrupted his entire program, particularly his sleep. He did not get into bed until midnight or later with a resultant loss of sleep. He prefers working out at night, because the oppressive heat of mid-afternoon takes a lot out of him, but he figures he needs to get into bed earlier.

Heene made no training gestures yesterday aside from a four mile dash over the roads in the morning and a game of golf in the afternoon.

He was storing up energy for the stretch drive of his training. He plans to go at a spirited clip from now on, facing new sparring partners, if possible.

James J. Braddock, a light heavyweight from Jersey City, is due to join the staff of spar boys. Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, who lives down the road a mile or so from camp, in the village of Rumson, also may be pressed into service for a couple of rounds.

Tunney Tapering Off in Training

Speculator, N. Y., July 17—(AP)—After a twenty four hour rest from all ring work, Gene Tunney decided to renew exchanging blows with his sparring partners today to fit himself for his world's heavyweight title bout against Tom Heene on July 26.

After today, Gene will box but four more times before he enters the Yankee Stadium ring nine days hence. Besides swapping punches with Harold Mays and Billy Vidaback, the Bayonne, N. J., heavyweight, Gene mapped out a program which includes a long stretch of road work and a strenuous session with the punching bag and heavy body sack.

Conclusive evidence that the champion has entered the last stages of his training came when a specimen of special meat, which will be cut into steaks and chops, arrived from a New York restaurant. All through his boxing career Tunney has wound up the campaigns for his major bouts by consuming great quantities of these high grade provisions.

Commander Richard Byrd, the trans-Atlantic and Polar flier, is expected to visit Tunney. A landing field for the Byrd plane, in which Tunney hopes to fly to New York on the day of the fight was laid out on the Hamilton County Country Club, about four miles from the training camp.

FARMER MEETING CONDEMNS HOOVER AND G. O. P. PLANK

Call Farm Relief Paramount Issue in This Campaign

Des Moines, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—The agricultural plank of the Democratic platform was approved yesterday by the Corn Belt committee, a group of farm leaders at a meeting here.

Resolutions adopted by the committee condemned President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill, the farm plank adopted by the Republicans at Kansas City, and the candidacy of Herbert Hoover.

"Organized agriculture speaking through the corn belt committee hereby expresses its determination to carry on the fight for the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill, which is the only plan that has been suggested to make the protective tariff effective on these agricultural products of which we produce a surplus, without government subsidy, which we have consistently opposed," said the resolutions.

The Houston agricultural plank was commended on the ground that it "included a definite endorsement of the principles for which organized agriculture has long been fighting." The Republican stand on the farm question was pictured as "a renewal, in less definite form, of the pledges adopted in 1924 at Cleveland."

"With every ounce of our strength we oppose the Hoover-Coolidge policy of the industrialization of America at the expense of agriculture," the committee said.

PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Des Moines, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—A plea to American farmers to make agricultural relief through legislative action a moral issue in the nation "even as slavery was a moral issue," was voiced here today before a special meeting of the corn belt conference, an organization of fifty farm associations claiming a membership of 11,000,000 farmers in the United States.

The farm relief issue was placed above party platforms and presidential nominees by a half score of speakers representing leading farm journals and agricultural societies of the nation. William Jennings Bryan's expression, "The paramount issue," furnished the slogan for the meeting.

Wallace Makes Plea

Urges for the injection of the moral issue was injected into the proceedings by Henry A. Wallace, editor of Wallace's Farmer, and son of the late Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace. Mr. Wallace asserted that the country is rapidly becoming an industrial nation with the farm-city ratio of population receding one to one, to one to three with the balance in favor of the cities. With this as a text, Mr. Wallace declared that Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, stood for all that was good for an industrial nation, but no matter how much he would like to do for agriculture, there were men about him who will not permit him to give an increased share of industrial benefit to agriculture.

LEE COUNTY ODD FELLOWS IN LEE CENTER MEETING

Officers of Dixon, Amboy and Lee Center Installed

Amboy—The Lee County Odd Fellows of District No. 23 held a most interesting meeting at Lee Center on Saturday night July 14. This was a public meeting and the hall was crowded with Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Amboy, Lee Center, Ashton, Dixon, Peru and Mendota.

The meeting was in charge of the president of District No. 23, W. Ralph Long of Green River, Lodge No. 999 I. O. O. F. of Amboy. The meeting was opened by the warden of Haskell Lodge No. 1004 I. O. O. F. of Lee Center, presenting the flag and the Brethren and Sisters singing American. This was followed by the roll call of Lodges and other business. The male quartet of Mokena Lodge No. 34 I. O. O. F. of Peru, Illinois entertained with a number of vocal selections and responded to a number of queries.

A delegation of Brethren from Mendota Lodge was present to boost the district meeting of La Salle county to be held at Mendota on Tuesday night July 24 in the Elks Building. This is to be a public meeting and all Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are invited to attend. The I. O. O. F. of Peru, Illinois and one Drill team from Mokena Lodge No. 34 I. O. O. F. of Peru are to be a part of the program that is being prepared without sparing of time, money or work to make this one of the biggest meetings ever held in this part of the state.

The main feature of the evening was the joint installing of the officers of the Lodges of Amboy, Dixon and Lee Center by the installing staff of Mokena Lodge No. 34 I. O. O. F. of Peru, under the leadership of John W. Schweiger as District Deputy Grand Master. This provided a very interesting program and the work was put on in a most credible manner.

Following several interesting talks by Brethren from different Lodges a social time was enjoyed including a "banquet" given by Haskell Lodge. The next meeting of Lee County District No. 23 will be held in Ashton on a date to be set later. It is planned to have some of the grand officers present and hold a school of instruction.

Monday's Bible Conference sessions were given much additional interest by the arrival of the Conference Chorister, Walter Jenkins of Memphis, Tenn. Assisted by the unusual work of Miss Tripp at the piano, this warm-hearted southerner at once won favor with all. Miss Tripp sang also, and last evening she and Willard Johnson of Moline at the piano.

In Chautauqua Hall, 9:30, Dr. Palmer began real class-study of the Bible, with a lecture on the Oriental background that the pupil must understand, in order to receive the entire content of Scripture truth.

S. D. Gordon's two "quiet talks," characteristic, but not by any artificial singularity, yet holding interest tensely and without strain, dealt with Man's Temptation (morning), and Man's Transformation (evening).

At 2:00 in the afternoon, the Rev. H. C. Roehner of Mansfield, Ohio, gave the first of three addresses he will bring, "The Use of the Upper Room." He showed how much our hurried western and modern life is in need of the regular relaxation of body, and strengthening of the soul, by "taking time to be holy."

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes continued his strong, finished, well-delivered series of sermons, with one at 3 o'clock, on "The Last Prayer of the Bible," Revelations 22:20, "Come, Lord Jesus." Christmas, he said, marked the Historic Coming of Jesus; various types of millenarian doctrine featured the Prophetic Coming; but he was more interested in Jesus' "Present and Perpetual" coming in to men's lives through processes of regeneration.

In the bishop's second address, at night, Intercessory Prayer was the great theme presented, based on a somewhat obscure Old Testament verse, "And God turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends." (Job, 42:10). In this address few listeners will soon forget the scathing paragraph wherein the speaker paid his respects to men addicted to profanity. "It doesn't require religion for a man to decide to quit the wicked habit of swearing—just the love for decency and refinement are enough!"

The Jenkins-Tripp Music School for choristers, soloists, accompanists, and any in the usual church life who occupy or aspire to positions of leadership in music, will open up work tomorrow, at 2 o'clock in Chautauqua Hall.

At 5:30 tomorrow, in the Assembly

Park hotel, a banquet of honor will be tendered the speakers, by the board of directors and other friends. On this day, the largest number of speakers will be present, the Rev. John McNeill of Los Angeles arriving today, to be here the remainder of the sessions.

Tomorrow's detailed program follows:

9:30 Dr. Palmer, Bible Study, Chautauqua Hall.
10:30, S. D. Gordon, Auditorium.
2:00 Dr. H. C. Roehner, Auditorium.
3:00 Dr. John McNeill, Auditorium.
6:45 S. D. Gordon, Auditorium.
7:30 Dr. John McNeill, Auditorium.
Mr. Jenkins and Miss Tripp will direct the music at all sessions except when the School of Music is in session.

PERSONALITY—ITS DEVELOPMENT.

It may almost be said of personality that its measure is the degrees of difference between the individual and the mob.

A pleasing personality is a rare asset. It is better than money in the bank. It draws a greater interest rate than money because it draws to the owner of that personality friends and possibilities of advancement in any chosen field.

To develop this pleasing personality is not a difficult task. The first step is the complete abolition of selfishness and self complacency.

Consideration of others, the willingness to see the other person's side of the matter, the willingness to do for others—coupled with cheerfulness, an outlook on the brighter side of life and the joy of living—these are the things that make for pleasing personality.

And from the physical standpoint it is necessary to observe the rules of absolute cleanliness, and of neatness, as lack of these considerations can too easily detract from an otherwise happy effect.

Perhaps, then, a pleasing personality can better be defined as appearing always at one's best—mentally, physically and spiritually.

PROSPECTS SMALL GRAIN IN STATE MUCH IMPROVED

Oats, Spring Wheat and Barley About Average, is Report

Springfield, Ill., July 17-(AP)—Marked improvement in small grain prospects, with oats, spring wheat and barley about average, was reported by the state and federal departments of agriculture following their July 1 survey of Illinois crops.

Corn, winter wheat, rye and tree fruits are somewhat below average. Hay is a short crop and the prospect is favorable for most small fruits and vegetables.

The acreage planted in all crops is over 2 per cent greater than that of a year ago. This is largely due to average curtailment by the adverse 1927 season and a favorable planting season this year. The tremendous loss of winter wheat acreage and reduced acreages of rye and hay have been more than offset by heavily increased acreages of corn, oats, spring wheat, barley and soybeans. Pastures are fair to good. Farm labor is satisfactory.

Farm work was seriously retarded by wet weather in southern Illinois and to a lesser extent in some of the central and northern counties. Favorable weather is now needed for harvest and cultivation work.

Generally, the condition of corn is up to average or better over most of the northern half of the state, or the most important corn area. Some early fields will be laid by during the first week in July. Corn outlook is unfavorable in many of the lower central and southern counties, due to varying damage from excessive June rains and grassy conditions of fields. Cotton and broomcorn are other crops which have been hard hit by excessive June rains or wet fields preventing cultivation. With some exceptions, chiefly in scattered central and northeastern counties, oats promise a fair to good crop. Wheat is an uneven crop but much better than earlier expectations. There are some very favorable fields of wheat, especially in the west central and northwestern counties, and uneven poor to fair as a rule elsewhere. The soft winter wheat crop in southern Illinois is one of the smallest on record. On July 1, wheat was ripening well up into the central area. Oats ranged from ripe in the south to flower stage in the north. Small grains have filled favorably in the central and southern counties and yield should fully hold up to expectations.

Illinois corn acreage increased 14 per cent over that of last season and now stands at 9,655,000 acres. The July 1 condition is reported at 79 per cent of normal, compared with the past ten year average of 82 per cent for this date.

Indicated production based on this condition is 343,235,000 bushels, against 254,070,000 bushels produced last season and the past five year production of 320,656,000 bushels. United States corn production outlook is placed at 2,355,517,000 bushels, against 2,773,708,000 bushels produced last year.

The winter wheat acreage is set at 1,146,000 acres and is just about half the harvested acreage in 1927. Conditions are set at 57 per cent, as compared with the ten year average of 78 per cent. The indicated crop production is 14,894,000 bushels compared with 30,956,000 bushels last year. Spring wheat acreage in Illinois has increased 46 per cent over last season and is now placed at 315,000 acres. State condition is 80 per cent compared with the average of 80 per cent. Indicated crop production is 5,670,000 bushels compared with 3,888,000 bushels last year.

Reserves of old wheat on Illinois farms are reported at 906,000 bushels against 1,026,000 bushels last year. U. S. wheat reserves on farms is placed at 23,450,000 bushels, about 4,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. The production prospect for all wheat is set at 800,000,000 bushels, about 73,000,000 bushels less than 1927 production.

Illinois oats acreage increased 14 per cent over that of last year to 1,467,000 acres. State condition of 57 per cent is compared with the ten year average of 75 per cent. Indicated production is 153,404,000 bushels against 102,204,000 bushels last year. U. S. oats production outlook is 1,320,079,000 bushels compared with 1,184,146,000 bushels last year.

The state's barley acreage increased 50 per cent over that of last year to 680,000 acres. Condition of 84 per cent makes the indicated production 20,178,000 bushels against 13,264,000 last year. U. S. barley production prospect is 303,000,000 bushels against 264,000,000 bushels last year. The state's tame hay acreage was reduced 13 per cent, to 3,052,000 acres. Condition is 64 per cent, compared with the ten year average of 75 per cent production prospect is 3,320,000 tons against 5,092,000 tons last year.

The apple production outlook for Illinois 4,954,000 bushels, compared with 4,450,000 bushels last season. U. S. apple production is estimated at 178,185,000 bushels, against 123,455,000 bushels last year.

The peach crop prospect in Illinois is 1,310,000 bushels or about 200,000 bushels more than a year ago. The U. S. peach production outlook is 65,961,000 bushels compared with 45,463,000 bushels a year ago.

The broomcorn acreage in the state is 9 per cent less than a year ago. State condition is set at 72 per cent compared with the average of 83 per cent. Production outlook is for 4,899 tons against 4,375 last year. U. S. broomcorn production outlook is 42,000 tons against 35,700 last year.

Conditions of other Illinois crops, with the ten year averages shown in parentheses, are as follows: Potatoes 88 (82); sweet potatoes, 79 (84); rye 75 (87); soybeans 81 (85); cowpeas 68 (82); beans 43 (49); grapes 31 (74); pastures 80 (88); and pecans 28 (65).

The supply of farm labor in Illinois is reported 98 per cent, with demand 87 per cent of normal.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Chicago—(AP)—Cattle prices staged a runaway advance in the last ten days, according to Prairie Farmer's weekly review of market conditions. Diminishing receipts of fed cattle, especially heavy steers, evidence that the supply remaining in feed lots is running low, scarcity of light yearlings, a temporary cessation of native grassers, a rising dressed beef market and dependable eastern demand with more competition from cattle feeders for steers on the border line were main strengthening influences. The Chicago top advanced to $15.95 for heavy steers, while light steers topped at $15.75. Stocker and feeder prices have strengthened after a spell of weakness.

Hog prices have advanced to a new high point for the season with the Chicago top up to $11.60. Receipts have been light, demand for fresh pork and cured meat has been brisk, and all interests have been active buyers of hogs on the rising market. Still higher prices are in prospect if receipts show their usual seasonal decline.

Lamb prices dropped to a new low point for the season early in the last week but had a fair rally later. A gain in arrivals is expected during July as the movement of both range and native lambs rises to its seasonal peak, which usually is reached around the end of September. Prices are still considerably above the average level in the last half of 1927.

Wool trade has turned quite dull during the last three weeks as a result of slow demand for goods and the fact that mills have provided for their nearby needs. Such sales as are being made at Boston show a reduction of about five per cent. In prices and bids to growers in bright wool states have been reduced two to three cents.

The purchase of five to eight million bushels of wheat by Russia caused an advance in future deliveries early last week, but most other developments were of a weakening character. Receipts of new wheat increased sharply and cash prices for both hard and soft red winter wheat lost ground.

Corn prices during the last week averaged highest in nearly a month. Rapidly diminishing stocks of old grain were the chief strengthening influences. Country offerings have been light because of rains, the rush of farm work and light reserve, while demand from feeders, industries and shippers has been active. The visibly supply has been dwindling weekly since the middle of March and is now only 16,000,000 bushels. Unofficial reports indicate a bumper crop this year.

Light receipts have kept the hay market steady so far in spite of the dull demand which is to be expected at the opening of the new crop year. Prices have been advancing during the past several months and the new season opens with alfalfa hay higher even than a year ago, and timothy and prairie hay almost as high.

Quality is the dominating factor in determining present egg prices. Mid-summer temperatures have brought marked deterioration in a large portion of the receipts coming to market, so that fancy, strictly fresh eggs command a substantial premium. Prices remain fairly well pegged at a level a nickel higher than early in June, 1927.

The peak of butter production is believed to have been reached but no sharp decline in output is expected. Rains have relieved the dry sections and except in the event of a long dry spell it is believed the production will continue good for another month or two. It is not likely that prices will go much lower.

When thermometers indicate a temperature of 100 or thereabouts, the surface of the hard roads are generally twenty degrees hotter, and frequently breaks occur in them and woodpeckers meet strange deaths. Coming abruptly as a week ago, following a long period of unseasonably low temperatures, the heat produces such violent expansion in the cement that ruptures occur. If the hot weather came gradually the cement would have time to adjust itself, without break.

These breaks baffle efforts of road experimenters. No way of preventing them, economically, has been found.

Extreme heat on the pavements, it is believed in the highway division here, contributes to the apparent high road mortality among woodpeckers. One autoist last week told of counting twenty bodies of these birds on route 2 between Beloit, Wisconsin and Bloomington.

It is said that the woodpeckers fly to the roadside in search of food, and becoming dazed by the heat rising from the road surface, fall to avoid the approaching automobiles. Some of them attempt to fly but dash against radiators and wind shields, breaking their necks.

Four footed animals suffer more from the heat than most members of the genus homo. Along hard roads in pastures, each hot spell they may be seen huddling together under shade if possible, in mute misery. Many horses died in Illinois in the last hot wave, unable to find relief from the heat.

The Farm Week in Washington

BY FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington (AP)—Declaring they want to save the American egg products market for American producers, 15 representatives of the nation's poultry industry are in Washington for conferences with the federal tariff commission.

Knox Boude, Petaluma, Cal., chairman of the tariff committee of the National Poultry Council, is one of the group. He says the commission will be asked to recommend to the president that the tariff rate on imported shell eggs be increased from eight cents a dozen to ten cents, that the rate on frozen eggs be raised from nine cents a pound to nine cents, and that the tariff be advanced from 13 to 27 cents a pound on dried eggs.

Canada and Argentina, Boude says, are the principal competitors on shell eggs, while China supplies five-fourths of the frozen and domestic producers supplying the other nine-fourths.

The Wisconsin legislature, the National Poultry Council and the American Farm Bureau Federation petitioned the government for the present tariff investigation. They were supported by the National Grange and the Farmers Union.

Existing tariff rates on imported egg products were obtained in 1922 when, at the instigation of the senate finance committee, they were written into the Fordney-McCumber act. Since then production in the United States has increased 150 per cent, Boude declares, and the poultry industry has reached a valuation of $1,250,000,000, sixth in importance in American agriculture.

Request for the higher tariffs is described by Boude as a move to protect the farmer in his campaign to possess the American market.

"Our farms are sufficiently manned and equipped," he explains, to meet the entire domestic demand but we are forced to drop back in production because of foreign competition. With very little additional expense we could materially increase production and realize a profit. As it is, our outlet is limited, and instead of producing a maximum at minimum cost, we must gauge our activities with what our experience tells us we can sell or with what brokers estimate they will be able to absorb."

It is a legend on American farms that eggs have been used for "pocket money." The same was true of butter before advent of the "cream check." Since the farmer has taken over cream production as a major farm operation, the family's spending money has come from the sale of eggs. Boude expects a protected market to do the same for eggs that has been done for dairy products. He does not expect increased tariffs to increase the price to consumers.

Valuable Hints for Farmers and Their Good Wives

Never pile rotten or even partly decayed wood with or near sound lumber. The organism of decay will migrate. It is better to burn all lumber that is no longer serviceable.

It is possible that there may be available this fall small supplies of alfalfa seed of the new Ladak variety, introduced from northern India in 1910 by the federal office of foreign plant introduction. At the northern experiment stations Ladak showed unusually vigorous growth, particularly for the first crop, resistance to drought and cold and abundant seeding habits. In the northern great plains it consistently has shown somewhat less winter killing than Grimm or Northern Common, and in most cases has yielded more hay in northern areas.

The best season for budding the blueberry is from the middle of July to the middle of August. The ordinary method of shield budding with a T-shaped cut and dry and unwaxed raffia wrapping, has proved the most successful of all the methods tried.

For successful use of the combine in harvesting grain sorghums such as milo, kafir, and feterita, it is necessary to make certain changes and adjustments to avoid leaving too many heads in the field. Extra slats should be bolted on the reel arms and wire fencing placed at the back and outer ends of the cutting platform to prevent loss of heads thrown out by the reel. The speed of the threshing cylinder should be only one-half to two-thirds that necessary for wheat. Manufacturers usually are able to provide the necessary sprockets and pulleys.

The cotton-boll weevil has a pronounced habit of dispersal by flight during the summer months, either from one part of a field to another or between fields. They commence to fly earlier in heavily infested fields than in those only slightly infested, the tendency being to leave the former and fly to the latter.

LEE COUNTY HAS COW WHICH GAVE 76 POUNDS FAT

Report of the Tester for Improvement Assn. Gives Report

Seymore Vickrey has a cow that produced 1857 pounds of milk and 76 1/2 pounds of butter fat for the month of June. She is a grade Guernsey 5 years old. At the time the test was made she was producing 61.2 pounds of milk per day with an average test of 4.1%. This cow is being fed ground corn and cob meal and ground oats as grain. She has mixed pasture consisting of several kinds of clover, timothy and blue grass. This is a wonderful record and has only been exceeded by one cow in Lee county within a year's time.

E. R. Fulton's cow ranked second with 1812 pounds of milk and 59.3 pounds of butter fat.

H. L. Rhoads was third. His cow produced 1518 pounds of milk and 57.7 pounds of butter fat.

Holly Smith again has high herd for the month of June. His cows averaged 1273 pounds of milk and 42.2 pounds of butter fat. There have been no fresh cows in the herd within the last three months. This goes to show what the breeding up of a herd can do when they are given the proper care and management. They have good mixed pasture and have been grazed the entire time.

Seymore Vickrey's herd ranked second with 894 pounds of milk and 40.3 pounds butter fat. The herd is of grade Guernseys.

E. R. Fulton has third place with his 13 grade Holstein cows. They gave 1267 pounds of milk and 39.2 pounds butter fat as an average.

All of the cows and herds that have ranked high are being fed grain and all of them have had good pasture for this year. Most of them being mixed pastures, a mixture of sweet and alsike clover, mixed with a little timothy to form a sod. The month of June records for Lee County show that the dairymen with the mixed pasture or sweet clover pasture have produced butter fat the cheapest.

Germany, hard hit by the war, is desperately struggling to set itself back on its feet. A committee of Germans, representing agriculture, finance and industry, has asked a number of leading American farm experts to assist them in studying German farm methods. J. C. Marquis of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics will be one of the American party and Dr. G. F. Warren of Cornell University is chairman of the American commission.

Milk production in New York's metropolitan area increases fast. Population increase and per capita consumption has sent the total receipts of milk in 1926 to 185 per cent of the 1910-14 average.

The present U. S. per capita consumption of cheese is about four and one-half pounds. But while the consumption is increasing here we are far from being a cheese-eating nation. The per capita consumption of Switzerland is 13 pounds.

Rotation of cattle grazing in the Cache National Forest in Idaho is accomplishing great results, according to Assistant District Forester C. N. Woods of the Forest Service. This area, which formerly ran close to being overgrazed, is now showing marked improvement.

With the help of the Forest Service and the Maumee, Colliers Co., Boy Scouts of Indiana are starting three 30-acre forests on strip coal mining fields in that state. The plots will be planted with spruce trees. The mining company is furnishing the trees, tools, and quarters for the Scouts while the work is being done.

Agriculture is utilizing the "squeal," too. Like stockyards, it is claiming every waste product and making from it something useful. The latest product of scientific agriculture made from the culls of avocado crops, is an oil which makes a hard soap.

JUNE UNUSUAL MONTH REPORT OF ROOT SHOWS

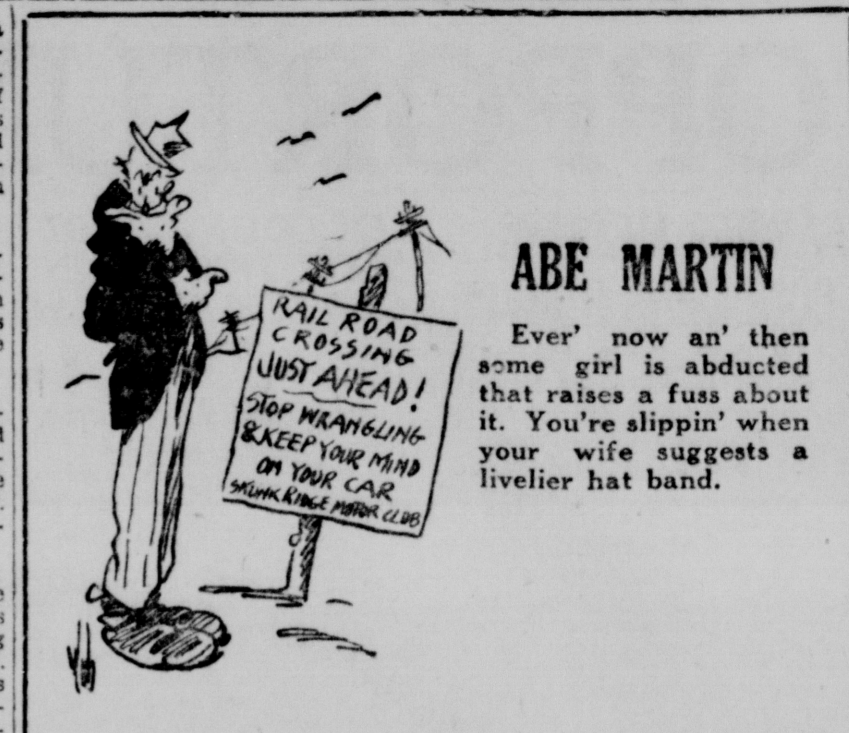

Tells of Weather's Effect on Grain in the State

Springfield, Ill., July 17—(AP)—Very little sunshine and very much rain made June an unusual month, Clarence J. Root, U. S. meteorologist for the Illinois area, reported in his monthly summary of weather conditions.

While lower mean temperatures have occurred in no previous June was a lower extreme maximum recorded, and the 55 degrees reported for Springfield on June 4 was the lowest ever recorded for June.

Three more cloudy days were reported than in any previous June since weather records have been kept. Twelve days were cloudy, the previous record being nine. At Chicago the sunshine was 24 percent below normal.

More rain fell in the Junes of 1882

POULTRY-DAIRY TRAIN TOURS NORTH DAKOTA Laramie, N. D.—(AP)—Reaching a total of 78,600 people in a campaign to prove that average breeding stock does not bring good results, North Dakota Agricultural college, completed a 34-day tour of North Dakota with a special dairy-poultry train here after visiting almost every section of the state.

Eighty-seven stops were made on the scheduled tour over three railroad systems. All previous records for educational tours of this kind were broken.

At each stop an effort was made by specialists from the state college to carry the message of increased profits through more efficient production. The point that it was more important to increase profits both in dairying and poultry than to increase production struck a responsive chord according to C. F. Monroe, director of the extensive division, who had charge of the train.

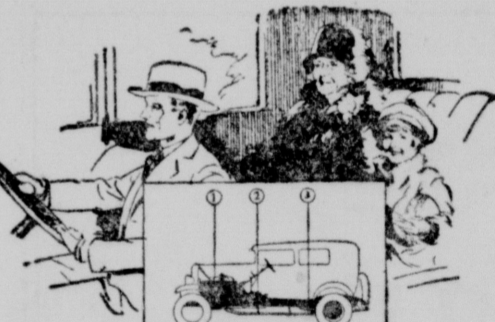

Throughout the programs and exhibits, the suggestion was for the producer to work with materials at hand by using good sires, sanitation, better feeding and strict culling of low producers without any great outlay of cash, to build up his herds and flocks to a point where they will return the greatest profit.

U. S. ADOPTS STANDARD FOR WHEAT MIDDINGS Washington—(AP)—Official standards for purified middlings, semolina and farina have been promulgated by the department of agriculture.

will not dilute!

That is the most important statement to the motorist any refiner can make.

Iso=Vis will not thin out—will not wear out—that's the whole story. Ordinary motor oils lose 60% of their efficiency in the first 200 miles of operation.

If you want to get the most out of your car—most wear—most pleasure—most miles for your money—use Iso=Vis.

Slayer and Wife in Love Triangle

Altheus E. Dickson (inset) wealthy Denver theater owner, was held by the police after Herbert Powell, 19-year-old grocery boy, was shot to death in the Dickson home. The theater owner returned home suddenly and found Powell with Mrs. Dickson, he told police. Mrs. Dickson had taken her husband to a train earlier in the day, but he told authorities the trip was "faked" so he could investigate reports that his wife was friendly with Powell.

The Wasp of the Navy's Fleet

Here is the navy's newest air fighter, an 800-pound plane carrying a motor of the same weight and with a like capacity load. Powered with a 300 horsepower motor, it flies 134 miles an hour, at sea level and 200 miles an hour at an altitude of a mile. The plane, just received at North Island Naval Air Station, San Diego, Calif., is shown here, with Lieut. E. Chourre pointing out the streamline motors.

Co-ed, 21, to Teach in India

Miss Pauline Rader, 21, Northwestern University co-ed and daughter of Paul Rader, Chicago evangelist, is giving up civilization and is going to India to serve as a missionary for five years. Plans for her departure followed her graduation this year. She will serve at the British Kruku mission in the interior. Miss Rader and her father are pictured above.

TOO REALISTIC
Belgrade, Yugoslavia — Madame Blata Gaveta, prima donna of the National theater, is in favor of less realistic scenes in opera. Her feelings on this subject were brought to the attention of the audience when a clumsy domestic threw a dagger which pinned the singer's foot to the floor of the stage. The curtain has dropped before Madame could fully express her opinion of the sup-

FOUNTAIN OF BEER
Saginaw, Mich. — A bootlegger was merrily journeying along with seven kegs of beer on a truck. He stopped at a street intersection for a red light. While at a standstill, a bung of one of the kegs gave way with a loud bang, and the keg proceeded to shower beer. Mr. Bootlegger? Well, he acted unconcerned, waited for the light to change, drove around the corner, replaced the bung and drove off unmolested.

THIS HAS HAPPENED BERTIE LOU WARD on the eve of her wedding to ROD BRYER, asked her how much he loved her. He told her he loved her. She told him she loved him. They were married. The end.

The pain in her heart vanishes when Rod tells her how much he loves her. They spend an ideal honeymoon and Bertie Lou forgets about Lila until they return and find her playing dictator in their apartment because she "loves what Rod likes."

Too much hospitality in the new home upsets their financial budget. This worries Bertie Lou as does the persistent annoyance of Lila. So she is happy when Rod accepts a position in New York with TOM BRANT.

Anxious to make a good impression, they go to an expensive hotel until they can find an apartment. The cost of things amazes Bertie Lou and she is embarrassed when MOLLY FINESER urges her to buy more clothes than she can afford. She starts a change account against Rod's wishes. He wins some money from Fraser at poker and recklessly invites the crowd to a night club. Lila arrives to visit. Molly, who includes her in the party and seems to enjoy Bertie Lou's discomfiture.

The check for the affair was more than $100 and Rod had only $20 with him. Bertie Lou forgot the day by saying that she forgot to give him the money she had when from the bank and asks Tom to lend him $50. On the way home she upbraids Rod about extravagance and they quarrel for the first time.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XVI

FORTUNATELY the money realized on the sale of their furniture came to Rod and Bertie Lou soon after the night of their disastrous party. Ever since that affair they had maintained a slight but visible aloofness toward each other. Something must be done to end this.

Each longed to get back on the old, lost ground, yet, as is not uncommon, neither would take the first step to end the strained relations. What was needed to heal the breach was some outside influence.

That influence was the money from home. For they received more money than they expected. Now Rod could repay Tom. That was his first thought. Bertie Lou said that Rod could not repay Tom. While she hadn't told him that she thought he was sadly in need of one she was sorry to see him wearing a topcoat in weather that was turning snappy. But nothing short of a blinding blizzard could have forced her to suggest that he get an overcoat and charge it.

Bertie Lou opened the letter containing the money. It was from her mother. And when she saw the check she became so excited she forgot there was any ice to be broken.

Of course there hadn't been much time for Rod to repeat what Bertie Lou said to him, supposing he'd be so reckless, so she wasn't prepared to have Molly telephone her, supposing Molly would. She thought it must be Rod. Calls seldom came in except from him. She took down the receiver with a feeling that he was going to tell her he couldn't lunch with her.

Molly's voice surprised her. "Well, did it cripple you to step out?" Molly asked complacently. "Why haven't you been over?"

"I've been too busy," Bertie Lou replied shortly. "You must be making a museum out of the apartment," Molly remarked. She was in a better mood than Bertie Lou expected. "But you can take a day off, can't you?"

"I've still got a lot to do," Bertie Lou evaded. "I really oughtn't to tell you the news," Molly returned; "you're so stubborn."

But there was one shadow that loomed on her horizon. Rod had remarked the day before that Tom had been asking him why they were keeping so much to themselves. Molly wanted to know, it seemed, why Bertie Lou hadn't called her up or been around to visit her. That was just like Molly, Bertie Lou thought. Expecting people to call her up. She could have phoned herself. But maybe—and this was not a comforting thought—she had wanted to impress Tom with the ungrateful neglect of people he had helped along. It certainly seemed as if she had an ax to grind. . . . The idea of setting Tom to question Rod when she might so easily have learned for herself that Bertie Lou was absorbed in getting the apartment furnished.

TEN THOUSAND U. S. SOLDIERS TO BE IN CARRANZA FUNERAL

Mexico's Lone Eagle to Receive Full Military Honors

New York, July 16-(AP)—The body of Captain Emilio Carranza will be started on its journey to Mexico City Wednesday by one of the largest military funerals processions New York has ever seen.

The coffin is to be borne through the streets on a gun caisson draped with the Mexican and United States flags and followed by 10,000 soldiers marching to the beat of muffled drums. Representatives of the diplomatic and consular corps and representatives of the nation, state and city are to follow.

Leaving here at 3 p. m. Wednesday over the Pennsylvania system the special funeral train will make no stops until it reaches Laredo, Texas, where it is expected at 5 p. m. Friday. There the body will be placed on a caisson and borne to the center of the international bridge where it will be turned over to the Mexican government. A detachment of 16 non-commissioned United States army officers will act as guard of honor for the body until Mexico City is reached.

Crowds View Body
Ten thousand persons, many of them Mexicans, yesterday viewed the body of Mexico's "Lone Eagle," killed last Thursday night in the pine belt of southern New Jersey when his plane crashed shortly after he had taken off from Roosevelt Field for Mexico City. Hundreds more viewed it Saturday.

No religious services will be held in this country, in line with the request of Arturo Elias, Mexican Counsel general in New York. Sebastian Carranza, father of the flier, who is attached to the Consul General's office here, did not visit the funeral establishment. He explained that he remembered his boy's face so well to wish to see it in death. He also said he would not accompany the body to Mexico City. "I hope to bury my sorrow in work here," he said.

AUTO ACE BADLY HURT
Detroit, July 16-(AP)—George Souder, youthful auto race driver, and winner of the 1927 classic at Indianapolis, was in a critical condition at a hospital today as the result of injuries received in a dirt track race Sunday.

Traveling at a terrific speed to regain mileage lost when forced to the pits, the Lafayette, Ind., pilot machine crashed through the inner rail of the fair grounds track, and hurtled into the infield, turning over several times. Souder was taken from the machine suffering from a compound skull fracture, fractures of both arms, and severe contusions about the body.

At a hospital physicians indicated there was little hope of recovery.

REVIEW ASSAULT CASE
Springfield, Ill., July 16-(AP)—John B. Reiner, Chicago garage proprietor, who was sentenced to the penitentiary on an assault charge made by Mrs. Jean Johnson, was today ordered released on bail by the supreme court justice Frederick R. De Young. A writ of error, asking that Reiner's conviction be reviewed, was filed.

Reiner charged that the woman came to his garage to collect a bill, and went away enraged when he refused to pay. Later she returned with her husband and charged him with attacking her.

EX-GROCER SUICIDES
Murphysboro, Ill., July 17-(AP)—J. A. Isham, former grocer of Murphysboro and Carbondale, was found dead in bed here yesterday with a revolver shot wound in his right temple. A revolver was grasped in his right hand.

That suicide was contemplated is indicated by the fact that Isham told a local undertaker Sunday, "I'm going away to be gone a long time." Saturday he had negotiated for the purchase of a local store.

KILLED BY TRAIN
Kewanee, Ill., July 16-(AP)—The mangled body of Peter Delviger, aged 50 was found on the Burlington tracks this morning after it had been cut to pieces by two passenger trains.

INVITE TICKET HEADS TO TALK AT STATE FAIR

Curtis and Robinson Invited to Address Illinois Farmers

Chicago, July 16-(AP)—Invitations to discuss the national agricultural question before the Illinois agricultural association on Farmers' Day at the Illinois State Fair next month were sent today to Senator Joseph T. Robinson and Senator Charles Curtis, senate floor leaders and candidate for vice-president of the Democratic and Republican parties.

Earl C. Smith, president of the association, in his messages to the vice presidential candidates, said they would be given one hour each for their discussion, adding that their positions as floor leaders and candidates assured them the attention not only of the middle west but the nation as well.

FAMOUS ITALIAN NEAR DEATH
Cavour, Italy, July 16-(AP)—Former Premier Giolitti, who has been seriously ill for the past week, lost consciousness this morning and little hope was held out for his life.

Two eminent physicians at the Turin Clinic were summoned hastily today to attend the 85 year old statesman and they were able to offer little encouragement to a large family group who gathered at the dying man's bedside.

REVIEWS TRAINING CAMP
St. Louis, July 16-(AP)—Fourteen hundred of the citizens' military training camp at Jefferson barracks, marched in review today before General Paul B. Malone, of Chicago, commander of the Sixth Corps Area of the United States army.

The review marked the beginning of the second of a four week training period for youths from Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois.

KILLED IN AUTO WRECK
Bridgeport, Ill., July 17-(AP)—Mrs. Cal McCauley of four miles west of here, was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding struck an obstruction in the road while passing another automobile, and turned over about four miles northwest of Bridgeport Sunday.

Four other member of the family were injured in the accident.

COPS WIN AGAIN

San Francisco—Earl Crenon, 11, was a free thinker. He absolutely refused to go to church. His mother threatened to call the police and went so far as to pick up the receiver and say "Give me police headquarters." Then she hung up the receiver. But a wide-awake operator had heard. She traced the call and notified headquarters. Within a few minutes a patrol wagon, a traffic cop and a half dozen beat men pulled up at the Crenon home. Mrs. Crenon explained the situation, after recovering from the shock, and Earl went to church accompanied by a patrolman.

A RAT'S REVENGE
Topeka, Kas.—Possibly the rats rebelled. They got tired of being chased and trapped in a Chinaman's shop without recompense. Anyhow, Jung Kee had managed to save $500, the profits from a laundry. The safest place, Kee thought, was to hide his money in his own establishment. But he hadn't counted on the rats. They found his hiding place and chewed up all of his hard earned money.

MAY BE MISSING LINK
Fond Du Lac, Wis.—A man called Jerry, who looks 30 and claims to be 125 years old, is lodged in jail here, apparently a victim of amnesia. He has been searching for relatives for a long time—so long that he doesn't remember when he started on his hunt. One thing he remembers distinctly, is that he was a drummer boy in the war of 1812.

HOOVER'S FATHER WEAKER
Placerville, Calif., July 16-(AP)—The condition of C. D. Henry, father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the Presidency is gradually weakening, hospital attendants said.
